

Panel: Trends in Web Design

Do you know what's going on on the Web?

Please join our esteemed panelists Karen Tenenbaum of Adobe.com and Charles Brewer from Agency.com as they talk about the latest trends in web design. Ms. Tenenbaum will tell us about design aesthetics, while Mr. Brewer will focus on methods of organizing content. At the conclusion of the presentation the panelists will announce the winners of the Silicon Valley WebGuild Web Site Design Contest.

About Our Speakers:

Karen Tenenbaum is an Art Director for Adobe Systems Web department who has been with the company off and on for eight years. Her background includes graphic design, professional photography, and photo illustration. Since 1986 she has worked closely in each discipline, combining computer technology with a wide variety of media including the web, multimedia, film and video, journalism, and instructional publishing.

Charlie Brewer is Senior Information Architect at AGENCY.COM and is responsible for creating information and content structures, navigation systems, and interactive experiences for the web initiatives of his corporate clients. Charlie has been involved in interactive media since 1995. Before joining AGENCY.COM, Charlie worked at NASA Ames Research Center in Mountain View, CA, where he developed NASA-internal websites, researched and spoke on web policy, and helped train other web designers. He draws on his background in information architecture, multimedia, technical writing and instructional design to create solutions to problems in human communication and performance.

Presented April 10, 2002 by the Silicon Valley WebGuild
Silicon Valley Chapter of the Association of Internet Professionals

Location:

North side of Building 3
Cypress Semiconductor
3939 North First Street
San Jose, CA 95134

Schedule:

- 6:00 pm - Registration, networking, table top vendors.
- 6:50 pm - General announcements (have jobs, want jobs, etc.)
- 7:00 pm - Main speaker
- 8:20 pm - Door prizes (must be present to win!)
- 8:30 pm - Special interest groups

Free and open to the public. RSVPs not required. Invite your friends and colleagues!

For meeting updates and news of upcoming events, use the registration feature on our home page at www.webguild.org